

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Killingly High school basketball team wound up its season with a snap victory over the Putnam High school team, 25 to 7, on the Quinebaug ground Thanksgiving morning and partisans of the team made up a large percentage of the big holiday crowd that watched the game. Teddy Reeves, playing his last game on the gridiron for Killingly High, started for the local team and was repeatedly cheered for his splendid work. The game wound up a season that has been especially successful for Killingly High, and the school will do well in future years to match the team that represented it in the great fall sport during the season that has just closed.

Themes of Thanksgiving homecomings featured the holiday period in Danielson and at many friends families, the members of which are seldom reunited except on Thanksgiving day. Enjoyed the period much in the manner of its observance in New England for a century past.

There was no outward appearance of the holiday celebration in Danielson. The happy reunions were all under family trees, within the warmth and comfort of dozens of households. Danes, pictures above and below the football game served to furnish all the entertainment that was required.

Thanksgiving afternoon and evening large numbers of those who like to dance were at the state armory for one of the dances that are providing so much enjoyment periodically for many here and elsewhere. Music was by De Vito's orchestra, which has proved very popular in this territory during the present dancing season.

Thanksgiving morning at 7 o'clock at St. James' church a nuptial mass, at which Rev. Edward J. Shelley, M. S., was celebrant and also officiating at the wedding ceremony Miss Yvonne Pelletier and Raymond Sander, both of this town, were united in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Sander are now away on their wedding trip after which they will make their home in this town.

Another wedding at St. James' church at 8 o'clock Thanksgiving morning, was that of Miss Olive Bouquet and George Henry Billings. Rev. John Rous, M. S., pastor of St. James' church, was celebrant of the nuptial mass and officiated at the wedding ceremony.

New week members of the Chamber of Commerce have a meeting scheduled at which they will discuss plans for developing Christmas business. It so happens that this section of the country is prosperous in this fall season of 1922, and Danielson business men stand in a position to reap a business harvest if the public here can be induced to do its Christmas shopping at home instead of elsewhere.

And it may be said here that Danielson business houses are in the habit of offering as attractive inducements as merchants in larger communities. It is buying here does not entail any expenditure for car fare or car hire or the extra work and worry of going out to town to shop. All of which, in a word, means "Do Your Christmas Shopping at Home." At least insofar as may be possible. Business men here pay their taxes by Killingly and do their best to please and accommodate local trade. They are entitled to some consideration from a trading public that expects so much of them.

Over in Groveland one resident who some years since came in from a country over seas is pondering today over the fulfillment of a car dream. A state highway to demonstrate to some unknown competitor that he has a fast car—one that can go over so fast as to beat the car of someone else who may or may not amount to anything.

In this particular case the speeder tackled a car being driven by a group of state police from the local barracks, on an emergency call. His car, which was a state highway, was in the hands of the state police after a chase that he could do with that roadster of his and was fair enough to state when they cornered him after a long chase that the car could go "from 30 to 35 miles an hour." But that didn't get him anywhere. As a matter of fact, the car was impounded upon him when he appeared in court, with costs, was in the vicinity of $125, and a conservative can show the state police a lot of stuff for much less money. So why race with them on a state highway? You never can tell whose headlights are making you nervous as they creep up behind.

Killingly High school, having successfully closed its football season on Thanksgiving day, turned its attention to the development of a basketball team. Killingly will again be represented during the winter in the Quinebaug basketball league. The team of the school are looking for the team to make an excellent record. The material is available and it probably will make good.

Commander Walter Jacobs, U. S. N., spent the holiday with his family in Danielson. Commander Jacobs' vessel is at Boston at present.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kennedy were guests of relatives in Hartford over the holiday. Miss Potter of South college is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Potter for the holiday period.

Miss Helen Hopkins of Simmons college is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burdette C. Hopkins for the holiday.

The Henry Meyer five-room cottage, located on Railroad street, Danielson, will be sold at public auction, Saturday, this week at 2 o'clock p. m. in rain or shine. Witter Bros., auctioneers, 42 Main street, Danielson, Conn., adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Thayer, 3738 Katherine Thayer and Ayerward Thayer of Putnam were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Witter for Thanksgiving.

Miss Dorothy Hamilton of New Bedford spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Bill.

Miss Margaret Beckley of Providence visited with her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton over the holiday.

Danbury—The work of erecting the new building for George M. Drumm on Front street has been held up for a week or two until the matter of a building line was settled between Mr. Drumm and the selectmen. The latter claimed that the foundation, which had been begun, was too near the sidewalk.

HALLROOM BOYS COMEDY—NEWS

PUTNAM

This city was called upon Thanksgiving morning to furnish police dogs to aid in trailing a man wanted at Blackstone, Mass., for the murder on the eve of the holiday of Albert Touchette, a brother of Officer Origene Touchette, a member of the police force of this city. Mr. Touchette was shot to death by a bandit, evidently intent on robbery.

The police here got in touch with owners of police dogs kennels in this territory. Jacob Baker of the Sawyer district responded to the call and left for Blackstone during the morning hours of Thanksgiving day with police dogs. The dogs were expected to be of value in trailing the murderer. It appears that the bandit shot Mr. Touchette twice after the latter had entered a store late Wednesday evening. Mr. Touchette was rushed to a hospital in Woonsocket, but died shortly after the shooting occurred.

At the Windham County Temporary Home for Children in the Sawyer district on Thanksgiving day 120 children who are inmates there were as happy as guests at any of the finest hotels in the country around a festive board loaded to capacity with chicken, a variety of vegetables, and all of the other good things that enter into the making of an old time Thanksgiving feast.

Not an item was missing that in any manner would contribute to the making of a grand dinner, and the manner in which the healthy and happy youngsters paid tribute to excellence of the dinner would result in a dyspepsia home in a rush order for a ton of insulin tablets and an army corps physician and nurse. Not so in the county home, however. The youngsters took on over-capacity loads and carried them off as lightly as a feather. The little people had a fill of grapes, candy, nuts, fruits and many other such good things, some of which the matron, Mrs. D. C. Parker, said were contributed by friends of the home, and in more liberal quantities than ever before.

Mrs. Parker expressed herself on Thanksgiving day as very appreciative of this generosity on the part of the givers, and the happiness of the children over what was done for them on the holiday was evident. The school for the day was the liberal of givers, this thought suggesting what many other may do for these little people at Christmas time if the opportunity comes.

Putnam High school's football team lost its last game of the season Thanksgiving morning at Danielson to the Killingly High school team by a score of 25 to 7. Putnam put up a scoreless battle throughout the game, which was more evenly contested than the score would indicate. Many of the student body of Putnam High school as well as a number of representative citizens of the city were included among the number that saw the interesting contest.

Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock a large number of relatives and other guests gathered at St. Mary's church to attend the wedding of Miss Beatrice Gagnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Gagnon of Main street and John W. Gahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gahan of Main street. The marriage ceremony was by Rev. W. Arthur Routhier, who also was celebrant of the nuptial mass.

The bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Ralph Gahan, met the bride party at the altar rail and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Olga La Bonte, a bridesmaid. The ushers were Morgan H. Deleaney, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Arthur J. J. J.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon, brocaded velvet and she wore a veil caught with 75 sprays of lilies of the valley. Her slippers were of silver and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's gown was of light blue chiffon velvet, with hat and shoes to match, and her bouquet of pink roses.

Prior to the wedding ceremony there was an organ and violin recital by Miss Elizabeth Byrne, organist, and Joseph Belair, violinist. During the wedding service an Ave Maria was sung by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martell of Webster.

After the church services there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents and 150 guests were served at the wedding breakfast.

Among the people who were out of town for Thanksgiving day were Mr. and Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins and daughter, Miss Jennie C. Perkins, who dined with their aunt, Mrs. Henry Beckwith, at her home in New London.

Nathan A. Gibbs, cashier of the Thames National Bank, Norwich, and his daughter, Miss Natalie King Gibbs, motored to New Bedford, Mass., Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. Gibbs' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Spooner.

Mrs. Emma S. Bennett and son, Orrin S. Bennett, with granddaughter, Elm-Beth Bennett, were guests at dinner in Norwich at the home of Mrs. Edith Talbot on Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Darling visited friends in Jordan Sunday. Miss Alice Rice, who attended school in New London, spent Sunday at her home here.

George Day got a large red fox Tuesday morning. Louis Chapman and daughter Gladys were in Colchester Saturday. Frank Rogers was a visitor in Colchester Monday.

Henry Moore attended the Yale football game Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. William Cornell gave a house party Sunday. Levi Baker is visiting his cousin, Mrs. Mary Medbury. Miss Fanny Brown spent the week end at Black Hill. Miss Mary E. Averill of Worcester is visiting her sister, Sarah M. Averill. Roger Brown of Worcester and Stanley Brown of Connecticut Agricultural College spent Thanksgiving with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard will spend a week with their daughter at Riverpoint. Show up a man who is unnecessarily humble and we will show you a hypocrite.

WINDHAM

Albert Marsh of Ohio is spending the winter with S. C. Higgins. The December meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association to be held Thursday, the 7th, will be addressed by Miss Ann O'Brien of the Hartford juvenile court.

Rev. and Mrs. M. R. Plumb and sons of Providence and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, Hartford, to spend Thanksgiving as guests of Charles Larrabee. There were 11 present at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society held in the St. James' church on Sunday.

Among those spending Thanksgiving out of town are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wells, New Haven, Mrs. H. L. Dingham in Providence, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lathrop and Miss Emma Lathrop in Williamstown, and Mrs. E. G. Gold in Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. G. W. MacLean in Bridgeport.

Mrs. W. A. Raymond went to Brooklyn, N. Y., Wednesday for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Scotland are to be guests of the Misses Johnson on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. J. F. Webb of Williamstown is at the inn for the winter. Miss Julia Burnham is in Hartford for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Leflingwell entertained the Monday evening auction club. The Misses Johnson are the hostesses next week. The body of Frank Baldwin of Boston, a former student of the local high school, was brought here for burial last week.

Mrs. H. C. Lathrop gave a pleasant informal tea Friday afternoon for the ladies of the church. Mrs. George Keeney, about 25 friends called to tender their good wishes. Tea and fancy wafers and cake were served. Mrs. W. S. Chapman, poetess and was assisted by Miss Florence Truitt and Miss Charlotte Lathrop.

Miss Julia Guild went to Baltimore on Wednesday to enter the nurses' training school at Johns Hopkins medical school hospital.

The semi-annual business meeting of the C. E. Dehlers was held Sunday evening. Henry V. Dehlers was elected president. Frank A. Davoll, vice president. Mrs. J. George Clark, secretary and treasurer.

The entertainment of the winners' class of the C. E. Dehlers' reading club Sunday school, who gave a play at the church Thursday evening entitled Mother Goose and Her Temperance Family, was a success. The costumes were very attractive and amusing, and the acting was excellent, due to the work of the pastor, Rev. W. S. Woolworth, and his wife, who trained the cast. The proceeds were $15, which will be used for church purposes.

At the Thanksgiving service Sunday morning the platform was appropriately decorated with grain and vegetables which looked very tempting. The center thought of the bread and of the feast of the people, for that we should be thankful to God for our great prosperity, religiously, financially and educationally, and for our great harvest. We should be thankful to have a government of the people, by the people, for the people.

Charles E. Dehlers, president of the C. E. Dehlers' reading club, gave a proper Friday night to those who assisted him in installing the new water system in his house.

The first snow storm of the season came Monday night. Wells are rather low for the season. The Woman's Missionary society of Liberty Hill church, reading club, gave a play at the church Thursday evening entitled Mother Goose and Her Temperance Family, was a success. The costumes were very attractive and amusing, and the acting was excellent, due to the work of the pastor, Rev. W. S. Woolworth, and his wife, who trained the cast. TODAY'S EVENTS

Observance of Arbor day in Georgia. Festival of St. Elmer, the patron saint of metal-workers. General Oregon today completes his second year as president of Mexico. Greetings to Queen Mother Alexandra, on the occasion of her 75th birthday. The first basketball coaching school is to be opened today at Waukegan, Ill. The assembly of the University of Wisconsin extended division. Work is to be begun today on the construction of a new building for the Ford Motor Company at Ford City, the plans for which call for an expenditure of $4,000,000.

All year's work of the United States are to be placed on a six day a week working basis today, instead of the five day basis that has prevailed for nearly two years.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and Representative Huddleston of Alabama have joined in issuing a call for a conference of Progressives in Washington today for the purpose of organizing a Progressive group in congress.

Seven editors of the United States are to be placed on the retired list today. Among them are Maj. Gen. Charles E. Smith, Maj. Gen. Charles J. Bailey, in command of the Third Army Corps; and Maj. Gen. Francis J. Kernan, in command of the Sixth Army Corps.

Two players bearing the same name but who are not related appear in Cecil B. de Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Saturday Night" and the feature of the Breed Theatre today and Saturday.

They are Edith Roberts and Theodore Roberts. Although both have been based among the screen's most capable players for several years, this picture marks their first simultaneous appearance. To make the illustration, Edith Roberts' father in this picture. Unfortunately, that was not possible, and instead the veteran character actor, Edith Roberts' father in this picture, developed a quartet of principal roles which are portrayed by the Misses Joy and Mower making up the masculine portion of the quadrangle. Other players of note in the cast beside Theodore Roberts are Edith Roberts, Sylvia Ashton, James Neill, Julia Faye, and John Davidson.

Other pictures on the bill include Charles Hutchison in "Go Get 'Em Hutch," the Pathe news and an Educational comedy.

Five Vaudeville acts at the Broadway Theatre. The feature attraction is Leslie Blair Stirling and Glasgow Maids in "Echoes of Bonnie Scotland."

There are seven of them—seven Bonnie Glasgow ladies—who were once a part of a Bonnie lassie who was not both part and pretty? This sextet of Glasgow Maids who with Leslie Blair Stirling and Glasgow Maids in "Echoes of Bonnie Scotland" are as fair and as clever as any who ever trod the theatre. This act is in a class by itself and far surpasses the other acts on the bill.

Paula is a little little dancer who entertains with some fine acrobatic dancing. Boyle and Bennett are acrobatic dancers par excellence. They deserve credit for the way in which they make their act behave. They also do some fine straight dancing.

Miss Gravetta & Co. are transformations. The vaudeville act is making up to look like great statesmen, and in this they succeed admirably. They use wise and rely on their facial expressions for the rest of the make-up.

Boyle and Bennett call themselves The Jazz Boy and Prima Donna. How we have some excellent comedy that keeps all in roars of laughter. They are their excellent voices to good advantage.

The feature picture is Charles Ray in his latest comedy, "Alias Julius Caesar."

From its studios in New York and California, Paramount has sent lighting equipment and perfect costumes to England, Scotland, France, Germany, Italy, Egypt and Africa in order to get the appropriate settings for the screen pictures being produced as Paramount pictures.

Film men in all other countries except America marvel at the powerful sunlight and a recent American invention which made possible the filming of the tremendous battle scenes of "The Loves of Pharaoh," in which thousands of invading Ethiopians sweep across the desert, thousands of invading Ethiopians fight for the defense of their Egypt and Persia. The "Loves of Pharaoh" will be shown at the Strand Theatre today and Saturday.

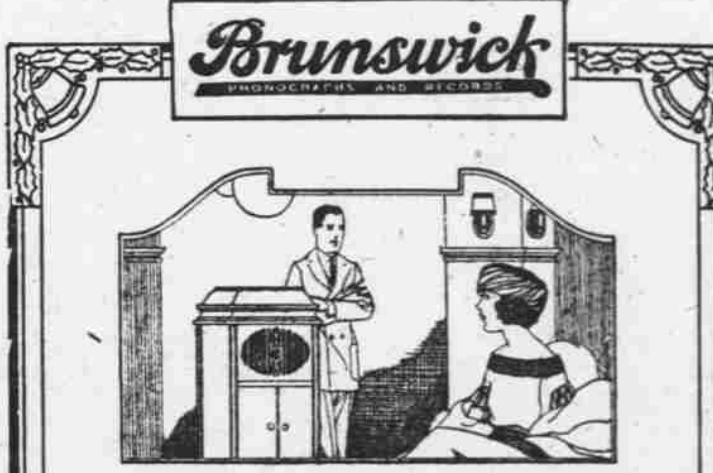

Ernest Lubitsch, creator of "Passion and Deception," who directed the tremendous spectacular scenes in "The Loves of Pharaoh" in which more than 10,000 dried thousands of persons appear, insists that he is verily using for night photography, it would not have been possible to film the scenes such extraordinary photographic effects.

Other subjects include a comedy and news. Continuous show Saturday from 1:30.

HUPMOBILE ANNOUNCES NEW. SPECIALLY EQUIPPED CAR. In order to answer a steadily increasing demand among some of the Hupmobile enthusiasts for a more complete type of car, so much in vogue now, that concern has just announced a new model of that description in both four-door and roadster styles. While the new car carries a full line of the finer equipment which is so closely associated with certain modern demands, they still follow the long established Hupmobile tradition of avoiding the extreme.

The radiator, radiator cap and bar, the cowl lamp and barrel head lamp are all nickel plated and of the most advanced Hupmobile design. Automobile seat covers are on the running board. The wheels are standard equipment, and the top is a special Hupmobile in brown. The roadster and touring cars are also equipped except that the roadster carries the additional equipment of nickel plated bars on the rear deck and a third tire. Except for the changes noted above, the new car is the same as the standard Hupmobile model.
